S. A. D. 44 BOARD PLANS TO ESTABLISH COMMITTEE TO STUDY CAPITAL NEEDS

The board of directors of M. S. A. D. #44 met in regular session in the auditorium at Telstar Regional High School on Monday evening of this week.

The major portion of the meeting was devoted to a discussion of possible major capital (construction) needs the district may have in the foreseeable future. Questions were raised concerning what resources would be available to meet such needs, interest in planning to meet possible needs, and any methods that could be employed for study, and possible solutions.

Douglas Stafford, consultant, Division of School Services, Department of Educational and Cultural Services, State of Maine, was present and provided information in regard to action of the 106th Maine Legislature in the matter of school construction. Legislation declares that it is the intent of the Legislature that 100% of the cost of construction be borne by the state; 50% from the uniform state wide property tax and 50% from non property tax sources. School units would have to provide evidence of at least 20/60 vision. The licenses will be valid for three years from the date of issue. After Jan. 1 combination hunting and fishing licenses will be available in the same manner.

Oct. 3 will see many changes in all aspects of municipal government due to the passage of new laws in the last legislature. There were radical changes made in the welfare laws that will have a profound effect on the town's expenses in that account. From that date on any welfare case, regardless of how long they have lived here, will be responsibility of this town. We must draw up guidelines for use in all cases. Refusal must be given in writing providing the applicant the opportunity to have a hearing within two days before an impartial board.

OFFICERS ELECTED AT HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEETING LAST THURSDAY

At the annual meeting of the Bethel Historical Society held last Thursday evening, Sept. 6, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Barbara Merrill; Vice President, Margaret Joy Tibbets; Secretary, Christine Grover; Treasurer, Gwendolin Holt. The retiring president, Ed Quinn, was elected to the board of trustees and named chairman of the board.

A letter was read from John T. Grover explaining that because of the pressures of his duties as Dean of Students at Gould Academy he would be unable to continue overseeing the reconstruction and renovation of the Moses Mason House. The Society regrettably accepted his decision in this matter and he has the heartfelt thanks of all members for his untiring efforts in their behalf.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mason Carter has also indicated by letter that she finds it necessary to withdraw from the chairmanship of the Furnishings Committee and the Publicity Committee in order to better serve the many and varied interests with which she is involved. Mrs. Carter has made many valuable contributions to the work of the Society, including the laying of the groundwork for the Museum's designation as a State and Federal registered landmark. The Society is indebted to Mrs. Carter for her achievements in this as well as other areas.

Mrs. Floribell Haines gave an interesting talk describing her recent visit to the Rockefeller Foundation historical properties in Tarrytown, N.Y.: The John Jay House, the van Cortlandt House and the Washington Irving House, after which she presented to the Society a copy of "Early American Rooms 1650-1850" showing interiors which should prove useful in connection with the furnishing and decorating of the Moses Mason Museum. Prior to Mrs. Haines' talk, Mrs. Nell Valentine showed and described an "album quilt" made over a hundred years ago, containing in the cloth squares the penned sentiments and signatures of the friends of a bride-to-be. These squares, never made up into a quilt, have been sent to Mrs. Valentine for consideration as a contribution to the Museum.

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —
The neighborhood seems quiet and empty since school started. There is a feeling of strangeness and one gets the feeling that time is passing all too fast.

Now when dusk comes, coolness overlaps the warmth of the day. Darkness falls down earlier over our countryside and a sense of peace and serenity envelope us.

September days with their pure clear sunshine are in-between days for they are free of the heat of summer and not yet too cold, just pleasant.

As I left the farm fields the other day a butterfly fluttered over my head looking ever so bright and summery against the subdued colors in the background. Soon another, and then another came flitting along; the monarch butterflies. They had emerged from among our many milkweed plants and now fly by the road sides and over the meadows. They are a coppery red beauty with white dots on the black-bordered, black veined wings and are as colorful as the fieldilles. The inch-long chrysalis is the most beautiful of all butterfly chrysalises. It is smooth and green and dotted with gold. Occasionally one was brought to the school room in early September. We placed the "jewel" and a twig in a nail or box and covered the container with a net. When the butterfly came from the chrysalis it would crawl upon the twig, head down to await the unfolding of its damp, crumpled wings. When they were dry, wide spread and beautiful, we gently placed him without touching the wing, on a flower. He'd fly across the sky to join others, we hoped, on his way to the sunny southland.

These fragile insects are as successful at migration as most birds.

It seems incredible, but true.
In spring
Gleaming red, veined in jet,
Dotted with pearls in ebony set;
Sky borne Monarch, immigrant,
Northward bured by milkweed plant!

In Autumn
Wings flower-wreathed in a fading tree,
Then petal-toed to a tropic sky;
A homing urge, an ecstasy
In so frail a thing as a butterfly.

Musing upon such intriguing quirks of the living world I stopped by the quiet pond filled with beautiful reflections of bordered trees. Or a log turtle crept himself co-

— Mrs. Louise B. Chapman, Corres. —

Sunday morning was one of those mornings that you just don't mind getting up. It was just cool enough to snap you awake as soon as your feet hit the floor, and outside the air was inviting you to let it put some color in your cheeks, and gladly you oblige. With the girls in windbreakers we ventured out for a walk in our back yard—acres and acres of woodland. Following what used to be logging roads, we started out on an adventure that included the discovery of Norway pines, white birches, maples, beeches and acorns. It was a slow walk with little feet stepping gingerly over fallen tree branches and rocks, but holding onto a protecting hand made it a lot easier. After a while we came to a "mud pond." It doesn't sound very beautiful, but in the early morning light, and a little imagination; it's an oasis in the desert. Our walk had gradually taken us up hill and there was still a special place we wanted to show the girls, but that would have to wait, for little legs were getting tired. Coming back down is a lot easier, except for an occasional fall caused from little sneakers on slippery leaves. By the time we arrived home, we'd covered quite a distance, seen and discovered many new things—together, as a family. A tree, an acorn, beechnuts, even moss, seeing these things through the eyes of the young, is like seeing them for the first time yourself.

Ruth Mason has resumed caring for Andy Smith now that school has started again.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Chapman and girls visited with Mr. and Mrs. Butch Lane and Heather in Errol, N. H., on Saturday.

TRIBUTE TO MRS. WIGHT

The following was written for the Neway Mother's Club by Gilberte Gecy.

Sept. 10, 1973

Tonight, instead of the regular

Prayer, we would like to pay tribute to the memory of one of our members, Elizabeth Wight, who was not only a good MOTHER, teacher,

member and friend, but also a good

EDUCATOR . . . A teacher who not only gives instructions and imparts knowledge, but an EDUCATOR in one who gives moral and mental discipline by conveying ideas.

"We should ask not who is the most learned, but who is the BEST teacher". . . . The secret of Education lies in the teacher respecting the PUPIL. A true teacher should penetrate to whatever is vital in the mind and develop THAT by the light and heat of her own intelligence . . . . Elizabeth Wight was all of these things and more.

Her wit and LOVE cheered us

all. And so in her memory we would like to read this poem.

Rest in Heaven

If ever LIFE should seem

To thee a tedious way,

And gildes cease to beam

Upon thy clouded day;

If like the weary DOVE,

Our shoreless ocean driven;

Rest then thine eyes above;

There is rest for thee in HEAVEN.

But if, like thineless flowers

Throughout the pathway bloom,

And gaily fleet the hours,

Then let not earthly gloom;

Still let not every thought

To this poor world be given;

Nor always be forgot;

They better rest in HEAVEN.

The secret consciousness of day well performed, the public voice of praise that honors virtue and rewards it . . . All these are yours

ELIZABETH WIGHT . . . THY WILL

BE DONE, O GOD. AMEN!

CAN SPEECH
VISION, OR HEARING REALLY BE LOST?

No. They are qualities of thought. They are spiritual things. They come from God, elated mind, the content source of all good and perfection.

RAILROAD CLUB ANNOUNCES SECOND PASSENGER TRAIN

A passenger train excursion from Portland, Maine, to Berlin, N. H., and return has been scheduled Saturday, Sept. 29, 1973, by the 470 Railroad Club of Portland.
